

25th Anniversary of "So Long, Marianne"

article posted on February 18th 2009

25 years ago, on February 18th 1984, the single "So Long, Marianne" released by CNR and performed by José Hoebee and Ron Brandsteder entered the Dutch charts. It later peaked at #11 on the Top 40 and #6 on the Nationale Hitparade (currently Singles Top 100). It also reached the 20th position on the Flemish BRT Top 30.

José had previously two big solo hit singles in Holland and Belgium (the #1 song "I Will Follow Him" and "Secret Love") as well as a couple of moderate chart entries ("The Good Times" and "I Can Hear Music").

Ron Brandsteder (who had shortly been Patty Brard's first husband in 1979/1980) was a popular TV host. The combination of his Baritone voice and José's mezzo-soprano singing delighted the public.

"So Long, Marianne" was originally composed and performed by the great Canadian Folk Maestro "Leonard Cohen" in 1966. Will Hoebee (José's hubby), then a highly demanded record producer, supervised the recording of this duet.

José experienced a new phase of her career with the success of "So Long, Marianne". After her solo hits, she scored chart toppers in duet (especially with Bonnie St. Claire).

Sources:

* Top 40 Hitdossier 1956-2005 (9e editie) by Johan van Slooten, publ: Gottmer Bech

* <http://www.dutchcharts.nl/showitem.asp?key=181158&cat=s>

* <http://top30-2.radio2.be/#/song-info/4059>