Hans van Hemert to launch a new LUV' act?

news posted on May 4th 2009

A strange issue has been discussed in the Dutch media since April 29th. Record producer Hans van Hemert would launch a new LUV' act without the original members. He would recruit younger singers. The maestro, who conceived the whole LUV' concept, has the right to do it as he holds the copyright on the name of the formation. However, he hasn't confirmed the news yet on his website.

According to De Telegraaf, the ladies are not amused. Patty Brard has told the newspaper that Hans might be angry because of the divas success without him. Van Hemert has complained about what he has considered as "small royalties" for the latest compilations and the DVD whereas the trio has been well paid for their performances between 2006 and 2008.

Moreover, Marga Scheide (who has been part of all the trio's line-ups) also owns the copyright on the group's name. Does it mean that there will be lawsuits like Boney M. (whose legal rights to the name have been a matter of controversy between Frank Farian and the band members)? Hopefully not.....

Patty: least popular Dutch female TV host

news posted on May 8th 2009

According to a recent survey conducted by HP/De Tijd (a weekly magazine), Patty Brard and Gordon are the least popular Dutch TV personalities. Paul de Leeuw and Wendy van Dijk have been chosen as the most appreciated TV stars. La Brard is used to such studies that underline her lack of popularity. But on the other hand, her recent TV shows have been high in the ratings (especially the two seasons of De Nieuwe Uri Geller). It seems that there is a love/hate relationship between the diva and the public. Patty has been in the spotlight (without any interruption) for 31 years. A lot of media specialists have often forecast the end of her career but the lady still carries on!!!!

The ladies last studio album (All You Need Is Luv') was relased in 1994, almost a year after their incredible comeback. I admit it's far from being their best record. Read what I've written about it on the "Articles" page.

Hans van Hemert's brief appearance on Shownieuws

news posted on May 15th 2009

Hans van Hemert in his studio

Hans van Hemert (Luv's father) has briefly and recently appeared on Shownieuws aired on SBS 6. Actually the entertainment news program has done a report on Mouth & MacNeal who have rehearsed for TV performances in Germany in the studio of the maestro. This pop act was Van Hemert's brainchild in 1971 and his greatest export success (in addition to Luv'). The original members were Sjoukje Smit-van 't Spijker (a.k.a Maggie MacNeal) and Willem Duyn (a.k.a Mouth who died in 2004). The two of them scored a string of international hits from 1971 to 1974 including "How do you do?". In late 2008, Maggie MacNeal launched a new version of the group with Arie Ribbens (the new "Mouth"). Their intention is to conquer Germany as they did more than 35 years ago.

Anny & José on Life & Cooking

news posted on May 18th 2009

Be my baby, the duet single of Anny Schilder and José Hoebee, is out now!!! Yesterday, the singers officially presented their new record and the music video that accompanies the track on "Life & Cooking" (broadcast on RTL 4). The TV program attracted 626.000 viewers (market share: 15.5%).

The ladies explained how they had the idea of recording a song together. In late 2008, Anny asked José if she wanted to perform a duet, after a show they did in Benidorm (Spain). They chose to sing a cover version of a Phil Spector pop classic originally rendered by The Ronettes. José told Irene Moors and Carlo Boszhard (the hosts of Life & Cooking) that she had always wanted to sing this pop/R&B standard of the 1960's. Moreover, Anny & José were asked to express their opinion on the latest Eurovision Song Contest. Miss Hoebee said that this event doesn't deal with the song anymore but instead it has got to do with the show. The Luv' vocalist regretted the time when a live orchestra was used.

By the way, Jos Theuns and Peter Boonstra (of José's fan club) were in the audience. Jos even answered funny questions of Boszhard.

Moreover, the English and the Dutch versions of the video of Be my baby have been uploaded on YouTube.
